Workshop: Disclosure, Information Sharing, and Secrecy (DISS)

February 24 and 25, 2025

1 p.m. to 6 p.m. CET / 7 a.m. to 12 p.m. ET

Online (via Zoom)

We are inviting submissions for a two-half-day online workshop on the economics of disclosure, information sharing, and secrecy. We welcome both theoretical and empirical contributions on all aspects of information disclosure (or non-disclosure) in economics, accounting, management science, and related disciplines. We expect to include eight papers plus discussants in the program.

We encourage (but do not require) all presenters to share their manuscripts with the audience (and the wider public) via the conference homepage.

The workshop will be open to the public, and all workshop details, including the Zoom information and the program, will be posted on <http://www.diss-conference.com>.

Keynote lectures:

- Ann M. Lipton (Tulane University)
- Ginger Zhe Jin (University of Maryland, College Park)

Submissions:

To submit your paper (in PDF), please use one of the three options:

1. Directly upload your paper using the submission form at <https://forms.gle/yjxJMHft8LcgywiR6> (you may have to sign into your Google account)
2. Provide a link to the paper using the submission form
3. Send the paper to diss.conf@gmail.com (Subject: DISS Workshop Submission).

Important dates:

- Please submit your papers by November 15, 2024.
- We plan to send acceptance decisions and the program by December 15, 2024.
- Presenters should provide the paper they plan to present to their assigned discussant no later than January 31, 2025.

Organizers: Please contact us for any questions or concerns at diss.conf@gmail.com.
